

“I have been in receipt of osteopathic treatment from the BSO since the 1980s. Most recently I have been successfully treated for a neck problem: I am now completely free of pain and discomfort. I am very pleased to recommend the BSO.”

Maurice Soffa

THE PATIENT'S PERSPECTIVE

Doris has been coming to the BSO for over a decade, most recently for treatment on her legs. She has decided to support the BSO with a gift in her will:

“In appreciation of the help and support given to me by the students who have treated me with professional care, even before they are fully professionally qualified, and also for the tutors.”

“I hadn't realised I was capable of that level of achievement. The BSO has encouraged and supported me throughout.”

Donna Clift-Williams
Osteopath

A STUDENT'S JOURNEY

Donna Clift-Williams, an ex-professional dancer and mother of two young children, was looking for a career involving the body and health. Lacking science A-levels, Donna completed the BSO's one-year Access course. The first three years of her subsequent degree course were spent studying part-time. Donna was thrilled to graduate with distinction. She has since gone from strength to strength, setting up her own private osteopathy clinic and working as a BSO tutor.

THE BRITISH SCHOOL OF OSTEOPATHY

www.bso.ac.uk
Registered Charity No. 312873

THE BRITISH SCHOOL OF OSTEOPATHY

YOUR LEGACY, THEIR FUTURE

Designed & produced by www.kwokchuman.com

Osteopathy helps to address health issues holistically and non-invasively so is valuable to young and old alike, from expectant mothers to veteran sportsmen and women. Reduced pain and improved mobility are some of the benefits of treatment.

If osteopathy has made a difference to your quality of life, once you have remembered family and friends, perhaps you may wish to help the British School of Osteopathy continue our important work by leaving us a gift in your will. With your support we will be able to educate the osteopaths of the future, treat patients in our subsidised general clinic, run our free community clinics and conduct essential research into osteopathy.

WHAT IS OSTEOPATHY?

The British School of Osteopathy (BSO)

- UK's largest provider of osteopathic healthcare, providing around 40,000 treatments per annum.
- A centre of excellence in osteopathic education.
- Trained half of all osteopaths currently in practice in the UK.
- The largest osteopathic research faculty in Europe, leading the way in osteopathic research.
- Offers cutting edge postgraduate courses to ensure that qualified osteopaths can maintain high professional standards.
- A new clinic provides a professional clinical setting to enhance our patients' experience and sets standards for tomorrow's osteopaths to aspire to.
- Maintains one of the best osteopathic libraries in the world.

A CENTRE OF EXCELLENCE

What your Legacy could achieve for the BSO

As a charity all support is vital to our work.

- £50 One hour of costs at our specialist clinic for older people.
- £100 Purchase specialist books for the library.
- £1000 Provide a new ergonomically designed plinth.
- £25,000 Name one of our treatment rooms after a loved-one.
- £50,000 Fund a senior research post.

We would be delighted to show you around the School and introduce you to our team. We would also like the opportunity to thank you in person. Please call the Principal's office on 020 7089 5336.

I would like to notify the BSO of my legacy pledge.

Name: (Mr/Mrs/Miss/Ms)

Address:

Postcode:

Telephone:

Email:

A LASTING LEGACY

- Please send me more information about the BSO
- Please send me a codicil form (in order to amend my current will)
- I would like to leave a residuary legacy in my will (% share)
- I would like to leave a pecuniary legacy in my will (specific amount)
- I would like to be called by telephone to talk about my legacy pledge

Please return this form in the Freepost envelope attached to:

Fundraising Department
The British School of Osteopathy,
275 Borough High Street
London SE1 1JE

Thank you for your support!

REMEMBER A CHARITY IN YOUR WILL
Help the work live on...